Numb. 59.

THE South-Carolina Gazette.

Containing the freſheſt Advices Foreign and Domeſtick.

From Saturday, February 24, to Saturday, March 3, 1732.

ANNAPOLIS, Decemb. 3.

To Charles, Lord Baron of Baltimore, Proprietary of the Province of Maryland, &c.

The humble Addreſs of the People called Quakers.

May it pleaſe our Lord Proprietor,

WE, being appointed by a Meeting of the People called Quakers, to Congratulate Thee on Thy Arrival, with Thy Lady, in this Thy Province, beg Leave to declare our dutiful Regard to Thee, which we do, with the greateſt Sincerity; and acknowledge, that with Pleaſure we behold Thee amongſt Thy Tenants; whoſe Intereſts are, as we humbly conceive, inſeparable to each other.

We alſo think ourſelves obliged, gratefully to remember the kind Treatment our Friends have received from Thy noble Anceſtors. And are fully perſuaded, that as our Society have always been faithful Subjects to the Crown, & are zealouſly affected to the Royal Family of our moſt gracious Sovereign King George, as well as dutiful to our Lord Proprietor; ſo from Thy loyal and benevolent Diſpoſition, we ſhall receive the ſame favourable Protection with Thy other Tenants: A Proof of which, we thankfully own to have received, from the Governors Thou haſt placed over us; and which has been lately confirmed, by the mild and prudent Adminiſtration of that laſt worthy Gentleman who had the Honour to bear Thy Commiſſion.

And permit us to ſay, it is our ardent deſire, that the Divine Goodneſs which has preſerved Thee and Thy Lady from the Danger of the Seas, in coming hither, may continue to protect and guide you happily thro' the Remainder of your Days; and that Maryland may never want of your noble Family, generouſly inclined to ſupport and enjoy the Government of it.

To which His Lordſhip was pleaſed to make the following Anſwer.

Gentlemen,

I Thank my good Tenants for their kind Addreſs; and they may be aſſured, I ſhall always protect and encourage them, being convinced, that my Intereſt and theirs is inſeparable.

To the Right Honourable Charles, &c.

The Humble Addreſs of the Clergy of Maryland.

May it pleaſe your Lordſhip.

THE Clergy of your Province, full of Duty and Affection, beg Leave to approach you their Lord and Proprietary, to expreſs their unfeigned Thankfulneſs to God, for preſerving you thro' ſo long and dangerous a Voyage: With the greateſt Chearfulneſs they Congratulate your ſafe Arrival, and welcome you to your own Country. So hazardous an Undertaking muſt be acknowledged by all, to be a ſingular Inſtance of your Love and Eſteem for the People of this Province.

Royal Diſtinction, the Reward of Merit, with which you are juſtly dignified, a particular ſweetneſs of Temper, Affability, and virtuous Diſpoſition, your known Characters, are ſufficient to command Reſpect, and attract Veneration. But tho' theſe, My Lord, are ſtrong Incentives to the higheſt Regard, yet the Duty and Reverence of your Clergy are founded upon Motives far ſtronger, the Obligations of Religion and Conſcience: Our Holy Religion, (the beſt Cement of human Society) engages us to ſubmit to every Ordinance of Man, for the Lord's Sake, and to obey them that have the Rule over us. How happy then are we, when both Duty and Affection ſo inviolably attach us to your Lordſhip.

There is ſtill a further engaging Proſpect, that whilſt your dutiful Clergy are uſing their beſt Endeavours to promote Virtue and Goodneſs amongſt the People of this your Province, their Labour ſhall receive new Life and Succeſs from your Encouragement and Example.

Piety

Piety and Virtue are the Basis of the Felicity of Ruler & People; as these either flourish or decay, so does the Prosperity of both: In the Promotion then (My Lord) of these blessed Ends, we can never doubt of your Protection and Encouragement, nor can we but think, that the Prosperity and Happiness of this Province, must center in your Person and Virtue.

We want Words to express our Joy upon this Occasion; but tho' defective in those, yet we never will in Duty, nor in our Addresses to God to pour upon you and your noble Family, all Blessings Earthly and Heavenly; that a Succession of Prosperity may attend and flow from you and your Progeny, to the People of this Province, to latest Posterity.

Dec. 15. Signed in Behalf of the said Clergy,
Jacob Henderson, Commissary.

To which his Lordship was pleased to give the following Answer.

Gentlemen,

I Thank you for your kind and dutiful Address; and assure you, I shall always encourage and protect the Clergy of the Church of England, to the utmost of my Power.

To the Rt. Hon. the Lady Baltimore.

The humble Address of the Clergy of Maryland.

Madam,

THE Clergy of this Province having with the profoundest Humility addressed their Lord Proprietary, beg Admission to Congratulate your Ladyship on your safe Arrival. They are sensible of the Divine Goodness, and have already return'd their Tribute of Thanks to Heaven for your Safety and Preservation.

It is, Madam, an unparalell'd Instance in you, that you wou'd expose yourself to so dangerous a Voyage, to visit us. The natural Aversion your Sex has to leave the Place of their Nativity, the Uneasiness it must create in you to part with the dear Pledge of your and your noble Consorts Felicity, and People's Hopes, (to say nothing of the Apprehensions of Danger) might have been supposed to have prevented the Undertaking: But these, Madam, you have bravely conquer'd; the Desire of visiting your Tenants prevail'd: Such Condescension must surely make a deep and lasting Impression on the Hearts of all who have any Sense of Duty or Obligation; and, whatever it may do in others, will always make the strongest on your dutiful Clergy.

Fame, Madam, has acquainted us with your Virtue and Piety; (Ornaments worthy Lady Baltimore) from whence we conceive the greatest Hopes of your Countenance and Protection; which will make us continually pray for your Health, Happiness, and Prosperity; and that there may never be wanting one of your Noble Issue, to preside over this Province.

Signed in Behalf of the said Clergy,
Jacob Henderson, Commissary.

To which her Ladyship was pleased to give the following Answer.

Gentlemen,

I Thank you for your obliging Address; and shall endeavour to imitate the bright Example of our Royal Queen Caroline, whose Protection to the Church of England is so conspicuous.
